The Whale Emoji Mystery

The Shiny Dashboard

Bunubu climbed inside his cozy acorn submarine, Acorny.

He plugged in a tiny glowing updating acorn key to refresh the dashboard.

*Whirrr, beep!* The wooden control panel lit up with bright new lights.

Whale Talk

Bunubu wanted to steer toward the river path.
But when he tapped the map screen, it didn't show arrows.
It just flashed a row of silly, smiling blue whale emojis! *Click, click, spout!*

Glitchub Steps Up

“Beep-boop!” waddled Glitchub, hopping into the co-pilot seat.

His pixel smile blinked fast as his grid-tail tapped the wooden floorboards.

“The submarine downloaded the wrong language packet!” Glitchub reported.

The Grid Translation

Glitchub pressed his flat grid-patterned paddle tail against the monitor.

His screen eyes showed loading circles as he read the code.

“The first whale emoji means *turn left past the mossy rock*,” Glitchub translated happily.

Propeller Spin

Bunubu pulled the main wooden lever. *Crank!*

Acorny's little back propeller began to spin with a cheerful hum.

Following the whale emojis, the submarine slid smoothly into the deep forest current.

The Spout Emoji

The dashboard screen flashed a new emoji: a whale spouting water.

Glitchub's eyes turned bright green. "This one means *prepare for big bubbles*!"

Bunubu held the steering wheel tightly with his paws.

Into Bubble Lake

*POP-POP-POP!* The acorn submarine floated right into Bubble Lake. Giant, rainbow-colored soap bubbles bounced off Acorny's round glass window. It was the most beautiful underwater playground they had ever seen.

The Singing Whales

Through the periscope, Bunubu saw real, friendly moss-whales swimming above them. They were singing in a slow, deep rhythm. They were the ones who sent the update to the dashboard!
